"America is the original version of modernity. We are the dubbed or subtitled version. America ducks the question of origins; it cultivates no origin or mythical authenticity; it has no past and no founding truth. Having known no primitive accumulation of time, it lives in a perpetual present." — Jean Baudrillard, América

Anyway, below is my review of America the book, which is Baurillard's review of America the country. "America" is an exercise in mental masturbatory travel-logging, if ever one were written. Still, it's an interesting, abstract prose poem on Baudrillard's experience of the United States in the 1980s.

VANISHING POINT Caution: Objects in this mirror may be closer than they appear! Nostalgia born of the immensity of the Texan hills and the sierras of New Mexico: gliding down the freeway, smash hits on the Chrysler stereo, heat wave. Snapshots aren't enough. We'd need the whole film of the trip in real time, including the
