I am Muslim is a book that I think would be interesting to kids to read and it will give them information on a religion they might not know a lot about. I think it is age appropriate because it is very simple and to the point. This is more of an informative text, so there is no problem solution in the book.

I have shown "I am a Sufi, I am a Muslim" several times to classes, and consider it the best film on Sufism that I've seen recently, but it has both pluses and minuses. The film focuses on five settings: The dargah ("tomb") of Shah Husein in Lahore, Pakistan, and an interview with a wandering dervish-singer there. Given his black clothing, this dervish may well be a Malatimiya Sufi, an order known for antinomian practices (specifically, smoking lots and lots of hash).
